Brussels Stop Paves Way for Moscow Summit

Nixon Departs With High Hopes

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon headed today for his third summit meeting in a little over two years with Soviet leaders, expressing hope his new "journey for peace" would help avoid a runaway arms race and a danger of world war.

Nixon flew first to Brussels for meetings with some of the top leaders of NATO countries — with the aim of giving "new purpose and direction" to the alliance — before going to Moscow Thursday.

In a brief departure ceremony at Andrews Air Force Base, just outside Washington, Nixon said that "as we take off on another journey for peace," his aim at the Moscow Summit was threefold:

"First, we expect to strengthen the bilateral relations between the two strongest nations in the world.

"Second, we hope to develop areas of cooperation to displace confrontation in other critical areas of the world that might be those places where conflict could develop between the two great powers.

"And third, we hope to make more progress on a goal that we began to achieve and move forward toward in 1972 of limiting both the burden and also the threat of nuclear arms over our two nations and over the world generally."

The President seemed in good spirits, having apparently recovered strength from the fatiguing Mideast trip. He also showed no sign, in his public appearances on leaving the White House and at the airport, of the limp resulting from an attack of phlebitis in the leg that occurred while he was on his way to the Mideast.

He expressed confidence, in his departure statement, that most Americans "are united behind the efforts we are making to attempt to resolve differences that otherwise would lead to a runaway arms race and otherwise would lead to confrontation not only between two great powers but all over the world."

An AP analysis of the third annual Soviet-American summit. See page 7.

Nixon leaves behind, as he did when he went to the Mideast for the first meeting by a President with leaders of three Arab countries in their own capitals, the multifaceted Watergate scandals, with Congress in the process of an impeachment inquiry.

He made no reference to his domestic problems as he outlined his hopes for the Moscow summit, including further steps to limit the arms race.

"These are very great goals and like all great goals, they are difficult to achieve just as was the case of the goals we sought to achieve on our first trip to the Mideast," he said. "But we are confident that when we look at these goals not only must we seek to achieve them but we believe that we can achieve them."

The President added, "And we know that (with) American strength, American resolve and, above all, American determination and dedication, that we will be able to make progress on this long but vitally important journey for peace, not only for America but for all mankind."

This third Nixon Summit with Soviet leader Leonid Brezhnev follows previous Nixon-Brezhnev meetings in Moscow in May, 1972 when they signed the first phase of nuclear arms control agreements — and a Brezhnev visit to the United States last June.

Representatives of the Soviet and Belgian embassies saw Nixon off at Andrews Air Force Base, Md., just outside Washington, as he, his wife and a high-level delegation, led by Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger left for Brussels. He goes on to Moscow Thursday.

Nixon showed no sign of the limp that resulted from an attack of phlebitis in the leg and was in good spirits as he left on his second long arduous journey this month. He told about 150 persons who saw him off at the White House that "I wish you could all go along but you're working with us in spirit."

Phlebitis Problem Is 'Resolved'

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon, one of the healthiest of post-World War II presidents, suffered from a mild clot in a leg vein during his recent Middle East trip, the White House says.

The clot, termed phlebitis by Deputy Press Secretary Gerald L. Warren, set in before the trip began and "it has now been resolved," Warren said Monday.

Dr. Walter Tkach, Nixon's physician, reported that the President is "in good health and is looking forward to his trip to Brussels and the Soviet Union," Warren said.

Warren did not disclose in which leg Nixon suffered the phlebitis and did not say what, if any, treatment was given.

According to medical dictionaries, phlebitis is an inflammation of a vein, often associated with a small clot and is most common in veins of the leg.

Nixon has been seen limping from time to time in the past but White House officials had offered no explanation for this. Warren said he did not see Nixon limp during his nine-day trip to the Middle East.

Throughout his political career Nixon has been hospitalized only twice.

The first time was in 1960 when he was campaigning for president against John F. Kennedy.

Nixon was hospitalized for 12 days with an infected left knee. Nixon said the infection appeared after he bumped his knee on a car door while campaigning. His personal doctor at the time, Dr. Malcolm Todd, said, however, that the car door injury was not related directly to the infection. He said the infection resulted from a boil.

The second and most recent hospitalization came last July when Nixon spent a week at Bethesda Naval Hospital in a bout with viral pneumonia.

Earlier this year, the President passed a full-scale physical examination at Bethesda Naval Hospital.

The most recent illness apparently hasn't curtailed any of the President's daily activities. White House sources said the President didn't appear to be bothered by the vein condition during his recent Middle East trip, and reported that he carried on a full day's work Monday, concentrating on the economy and domestic problems. Nixon leaves today for a NATO summit meeting in Brussels and talks with Soviet leaders in Moscow later this week.

According to medical dictionaries, phlebitis can result in serious complications in rare cases. One danger is that the clot may break loose from the wall of the vein and become lodged in either the brain or the lungs. In cases where this is considered possible, the patient is usually administered anticoagulant drugs and ordered to remain in bed for several days.

White House officials said only that Nixon's condition has been "resolved." They didn't specify what treatment was used.

The President's condition was first revealed by CBS newsmen Dan Rather on the CBS Evening News program Monday night. The White House didn't comment on the President's condition until after Rather broke the story.

7 Killed in Guerrilla Reprisal Attack

By United Press International

The military command of the Palestinian guerrillas assumed responsibility for an attack early today on the Israeli seacoast town of Nahariyya and said it was a reprisal for Israeli air raids on Palestinian refugee camps in Lebanon.

Seven persons were killed, including an Israeli woman and her two children who tried to escape the guerrillas by jumping out a window.

Meanwhile, The Associated Press reports that four Austrian soldiers with the United Nations observer force were killed and one was wounded today by a land mine in the Golan Heights, a U.N. spokesman said.

The three attacking guerrillas were cut down when Israeli troops blasted their way into an apartment building where they were holding out. An Israeli soldier also was killed. Six soldiers and a civilian were wounded.

"This operation was a quick reply to the barbaric attacks which the enemy launched on the refugee camps of our people," a statement issued in Damascus by the General Command of the Palestinian Revolution said.

The statement of the Palestinian general command did not identify the organization to which the three Arab attackers belonged, but other guerrilla sources in Beirut said they belonged to Al Fatah, the largest guerrilla organization.

The guerrillas landed at the resort of Nahariyya, a town of 25,000 persons four miles south of the Lebanese border.

They came in from the Mediterranean on a gray rubber raft equipped with an outboard motor and touched shore about 200 yards from the three-story apartment building, an Israeli military spokesman said.

Neighbors said the assault began an hour before midnight and ended 3½ hours later when army troops stormed the white concrete and stone building under heavy fire.

"There is a possibility that more attempts may be made by sea because the guerrillas might be finding it harder to cross the frontier by land," an Israeli military spokesman said after inspecting the rubber raft.

In another guerrilla attack, the Israeli military command reported several mortar shells fired early today at the border town of Qiryat Shemona, where 28 Israelis were killed in a guerrilla attack last May. The command said the mortar fire was returned and there were no casualties.

The attack came less than 24 hours after Prime Minister Yitzhak Rabin told settlers in a speech at Qiryat Shemona that the nation was engaged in a "perpetual war against the terrorists" infiltrating from Lebanon.

Witnesses in Nahariyya said the guerrillas were first seen by two civilian guards who ordered them to halt in the street and were answered by gunfire as the raiders rushed for the apartment building at 19 Balfour Street.

Authorities said the guerrillas apparently planned to strike a school in the neighborhood where students were to prepare for an end-of-term party later in the day.

The guerrillas went through the building spraying each apartment door with machine gun fire, then broke into the apartment where Mrs. Irene Zarkanin, a 38-year-old kindergarten teacher, her husband and two children were hiding.

Mrs. Zarkanin and her 5-year-old son and 10-year-old daughter tried to escape by jumping from a window but were cut down by guerrilla gunfire, military sources said. Zarkanin was slightly wounded.

Nuclear Study to Continue in Lloyd

By WADE BURKHART

The town board's Power Plant LLOYD Advisory Committee has recommended against the halt the evaluation work now being done on the Lloyd power plant site by the state Atomic Energy and Space Development Authority (ASDA), though local advice against the siting of a power plant in Lloyd. The town board has promised a stand on the issue at its July regular meeting.

ASDA Director of Siting Cloin Robertson met with members of the Lloyd Town and Planning Boards in joint session Monday night, and said of himself and the ASDA staff members he brought with him. "We are here to initiate the detailed planning phase of the Lloyd site."

Asked by Peter Ford, of the Hudson Valley Citizens Watch on Nuclear Society, (HVCWNS) if a stand by the town government against a nuclear plant would halt the site evaluation work, Robertson said it would be complete or they showed that the Lloyd site was unsuitable for a nuclear plant.

He said the studies had so far been favorable for a nuclear plant on the site, and he did not expect that to change. He said the studies were "about 50 per cent" complete.

The Lloyd site comprises about 2,300 acres in Lloyd and neighboring Esopus. The power plant or plants, would be located in Lloyd.

Wurmbrand said ASDA studies had shown that the towers would only cause one additional hour of fogging a year. Robertson said studies had shown that on only one day a year would the towers increase relative humidity in the atmosphere by more than one per cent. Wurmbrand said the towers would have "very little environmental effect, if any."

Mid-Hudson Pattern for Progress President C. David Robertson, and ASDA meteorologist Mitchell Wurmbrand, said they would not release the siting and fogging problem. HVCWNS has plant on the site would not be in conflict with the planned uses for the land, and could help it to remain as open space.

Robertson, in response to both questions from the floor and previous topics suggested by Lloyd Supervisor Jon Decker, dealt with such other questions as:

— Multiple siting. He said present studies were only to determine if the site was suitable for one plant, and no decision had been reached on locating more than one plant there.

— Plants of other fuel types. He said few oil-fired plants would be built in the future because of limited supply, and there seemed to be insufficient space for coal piles for a coal-fired plant.

— The Power Authority of the State of New York (PASNY), came to ASDA and received the studies on three nuclear sites, by not the Lloyd site. PASNY has evidenced no interest whatsoever in the Lloyd site," said Robertson.

Three Dead in IBM Plane

BARNWELL, S. C.

Two Poughkeepsie International Business Machines Corp. pilots were among three persons killed Monday night when their jet plane crashed during a training mission near Barnwell, S. C.

An IBM spokesman identified the two area men killed as Paul F. Whitman, 40, of 90 Alda Drive, Poughkeepsie, and James M. Murphy, 28, of 85 Miller Drive, Hopewell Junction. The third man killed was identified as Thomas O'Brien, a Grumman Aviation flight instructor working out of Savannah, Ga.

Whitman and Murphy had flown the three-year-old

Grumman G-2 plane to Savannah on Sunday for a training mission to upgrade their pilot's licenses. The IBM spokesman said. They crashed during their first training flight out of Savannah.

Barnwell County Sheriff George Hogg said the wreckage of the plane was strewn over 13 acres of swampy land. The biggest piece of the plane was the size of the suitcase," he said, "but the biggest piece of the bodies we found was about twice the size of your fist."

A spokesman for the Federal Aviation Administration regional office in Atlanta said the plane took off from Savannah at 3:35 p. m. and crashed a short time later about 75 miles north of Savannah.

The crash site was sealed off today as FAA investigators combed through the wreckage. No cause for the crash has yet been determined, according to an IBM spokesman. The weather was reportedly fair when the plane went down.

Whitman was a nine-year employee of IBM and is survived by his wife, Mary Lou, and three children ranging in age from 13 to 16. Murphy was a five-year IBM employee. He is survived by his wife, Angela, according to the spokesman for the Poughkeepsie IBM office.

Ford's drive off the first tee soared almost straight up and a youth in the gallery said the ball grazed his head when it came down. Tom Gerard (bottom left) is examined by a fireman after he was struck by Ford's ball 75 yards from the tee. Gerard was examined at Hennepin County General Hospital and released. There was a bump on the left side of his head but no fracture.

City detectives said three blacks — two women and a man — talked the Ulster Park woman into giving them $4,000 Friday after claiming to have $50,000 in which she could share.

The woman told police she cashed a $4,000 check at Banker's Trust and gave the cash to the trio. They borrowed her car key and pretended to place the $4,000 and their apparently fictitious $50,000 in the trunk of her car for safe keeping while they went to get another person to verify the amount of money.

The trio never returned... nor was the money placed in the car trunk, detectives said. Police declined to identify the victim.

According to detectives the Ulster Park woman was first approached by one of the black women in Kingston Plaza at about 3:30 p.m. Friday.

On June 11 a 70-year-old West Shokan woman was talked out of $4,000 by two white, female flim-flam artists. She was also first approached in Kingston Plaza.

Detectives said the three thieves in Friday's case were described as follows: one woman was in her early twenties, was thin, spoke broken English, and wore a raincoat; the second woman was in her mid-twenties, was about five-feet, eight-inches tall and of slender build, and wore white slacks; the man was in his mid-twenties, was about five-feet, 11-inches tall, and wore dark pants and a dark jacket.

Police said the Ulster Park woman told them she had read of the June 11 flim-flam. Police Chief Julius M. Glassman warned area senior citizens then to be on the alert for such flim-flam tactics. He reiterated his warning today.

Kidnap, Robbery Trial Underway

KINGSTON The kidnaping-robbery trial of Michael Hardin, 18, of 17 Hone Street, Kingston, began in County Court Monday morning with Assistant District Attorney Ellen G. Donovan stating she would prove Hardin kidnaped Mrs. Elizabeth Fabysack on Nov. 24, 1972, forced her to drive him to a place where he took her money and that she jumped from the car and successfully eluded her captor.

Defense Counsel Barry Lippman told the jury that he intends to prove Hardin was not present when the incident took place and that the evidence will show he was somewhere else when it is alleged the kidnaping occurred.

Hardin, also known as Ronald Le Baggett, is alleged by Miss Donovan to have been picked out of a police lineup at the Ulster County Court House the day following the incident. Mrs. Fabysack, the first witness called by The People, also pointed to Hardin in the court room as the person who allegedly kidnaped and robbed her and whom she also chose from the lineup as her kidnaper.

According to Miss Donovan and testimony of Mrs. Fabysack, she allegedly visited her husband, Joseph, at Benedictine Hospital the night of the alleged incident and later traveled in her car to McDonald's Restaurant on Albany Avenue to purchase hamburgers and french fries for her children. On her way home, she stopped at the E-Z Shop on Foxhall Avenue for breakfast food and neglected to lock her car doors while shopping.

She said that when she arrived in front of her home in Port Ewen, she shut off her car ignition and placed her hand on the door handle to open the door when she felt hands around her neck reaching from behind, and felt "something between her shoulder blades." She allegedly was told by the person in the car with her that it was a gun and that she would be killed if asked her for her money and she didn't do what she was told. She alleges she was told that the car doors were locked, and then searched her coat and again ordered her to proceed.

Allegedly following directions, Mrs. Fabysack drove toward Kingston across the Rondout Bridge. En route, Hardin is alleged to have jumped into the front seat alongside of Mrs. Fabysack and took her by the arm.

She testified that when they reached the Kingston side of the bridge, she told him to get out and he told her to proceed. Traveling along Abeel Street to Block Park, he then allegedly by police the next day.

Mrs. Fabysack said that as she slowly approached the Yacht Club Restaurant on Abeel Street, "I made up my mind that I was getting out of the car." She told of unlocking the car door and going head first out of the vehicle landing on her knees and screaming. A man and woman came to her rescue and she asked them to call the police she said. Hardin allegedly sped away from the scene and the car was located

Lippman contended that what the prosecution alleged was "not evidence" and he asked the jury to "keep an open mind."

County Judge Raymond J. Mino is presiding.

Like Old Times For Betty Hutton

NEW YORK (AP) — Show biz gave one of its inside "love-ins" for a beloved old-timer, the housekeeper-cook of St. Anthony's Roman Catholic rectory in Portsmouth, R.I.

And the housekeeper-cook—onetime Hollywood "Blonde Bombshell" Betty Hutton—kissed show biz friends Monday night and told them she loved them all, then vowed to go back to Portsmouth and her housekeeping duties as soon as possible.

"I'll never leave that place," she said in a glare of spotlights at the Empire State Building's Riverboat Restaurant in white chiffon, feathers and a warm glow from all the kisses of other old-timers.

"I've been offered open-ended contracts," she added. "But this is going to be my life." Told that the Rev. Peter McGuire, who befriended her six months ago, had described her as a marvelous and inventive cook and expressed the hope she would continue in her job at the rectory. Betty said she had no idea of leaving.

"I've found something I can do well, and I intend to keep on doing it," she said. "I have a crowd of people who love me. We go boating, we have a wonderful time. It's marvelous."

But when George Jessel came up and started talking about old times, he left Betty practically in tears. And when Eddie Bracken called from Hollywood, and she took the call, onstage, the voice that said "Oh, I'm proud to hear from you" was the voice of the Betty Hutton who bounced through a dozen Hollywood musicals and became the pin-up girl of thousands of World War II GIs.

She told Bracken, "When you stopped making movies with me, things went down the tube."

Things had gone far down the tube for Betty Hutton when she ran into Father McGuire and, "broken, down and out, without a dime to my name," she accepted his offer of a job in the rectory.

At the Riverboat party, while one entertainer after another paid tribute and the reporters and photographers nearly smothered her, Betty might never have been away.

"I hate you," said Patsy Kelly, in slacks and plaid shirt, taking time out from her own Broadway comeback in "Irene."

"Your so beautiful," said Patsy. "You look better than I did 40 years ago. If I can come back, so can you."

Garrow Trial... Contradicting Testimony

LAKE PLEASANT, N.Y. (UPI) — Directly contradicting defense testimony, two prosecution witnesses Monday testified that Robert F. Garrow of Syracuse, on trial for allegedly killing a camper in the Adirondack Mountains last July, was aware that his actions were wrong and would lead to the victim's death.

In a related development, the Onondaga County Bar Association said it would file a petition today asking the Appellate Division of State Supreme Court to investigate the actions of Garrow's two attorneys, who withheld information from authorities concerning two young women Garrow has said he killed.

Taylor Obold, president of the group, said Monday it wanted a probe of the failure of the attorneys to tell police the whereabouts of the bodies of Susan Petz, 21, of Skokie, Ill., and Alicia Hauck, 16, of Syracuse.

Court-appointed lawyers Frank Armani and Francis Belge revealed last week that their client had told them the location of the victims of sex slayings several months before their fate had been learned by authorities but they had been restrained from cooperating with authorities because of professional ethics.

The attorneys, reportedly refused to give authorities information concerning the two separate incidents after they were rebuffed in an attempt to bargain a reduced charge for Garrow in the slaying of Philip Dombrowski, 19, of Schenectady, for which Garrow is currently being tried in Hamilton County Court.

In testimony Monday, Dr. William L. Holt Jr., former chairman of the Department of Psychiatry at Albany Medical College, told the jury he believed the 38-year-old bakery mechanic "knew he was committing a crime."

The defense has attempted to prove Garrow was suffering from mental disorders which made him incapable of comprehending all of the consequences of his actions and did not recall events surrounding Dombrowski's death.

"I came to the conclusion that since the most obvious segment of time forgotten by the subject was exactly the time the crime was committed, that this was a self-serving effort to avoid disclosure of what had transpired.

Asked if he would call it amnesia, Holt replied, "I would call it lying."

Later Monday, his claim was supported by another psychiatrist, Dr. Walter Osinski, who had also examined Garrow in 1956 and 1961 after earlier problems with the law.

Belge asked Osinski if he did not consider remarks he had made during a newspaper interview last August about Garrow's mental condition to have been a violation of doctor-patient confidentiality, but Osinski replied that the conversation had been intended to be in confidence and not for publication.

Osinski, basing his comments on his earlier interviews with Garrow, said the courtroom examinations of Garrow were not of a psychotic but of a personality disorder.

KHS Graduation In Field House

KINGSTON — Bad weather has finally caught up to Kingston High School.

KHS Principal Dan Allen announced today that, because of the rain, tonight's graduation exercises will be held at the Kate Walton Field House, instead of Dietz Stadium.

Allen said admission to the Field House will be by ticket only. The ceremonies begin at 8 p.m.

Good weather had graced graduating seniors for several years. Commencement had been held under the lights at Dietz Stadium for five straight years, according to the principal.

UJA GUEST SPEAKER — Mathilda Brailove, a former chairman of the Women's Division of the United Jewish Appeal, will be guest speaker at an Advanced Gifts meeting of the area UJA drive at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Saul Goldfarb, 222 Pearl Street, beginning at 8 p. m. on Wednesday. Mrs. Brailove, long active in charitable organizations, was a member of the first UJA Survey Mission to Israel in 1948 and has had many visits since, conferring with top government leaders. Her dedication has been recognized by awards from the UJA and the Israel Bond Drive. Mrs. Brailove will also speak at an informational meeting of the women of the community at Temple Emanuel on Albany Avenue, Wednesday at 3:30 p. m. Baby-sitting services will be provided.

Paltz Raises Unsettled

NEW PALTZ proposed increases. And, of course, the law necessitates a referendum before the village officers can count their money for real.

Monday's resolution asking for a referendum was introduced by trustee John Sherwig and supported by trustee O. Lincoln Igou. Trustees George Ackert and John Logan, as well as Mayor DuBois, however, voted against the measure.

Village attorney Philip Zand said today the village board could either schedule a special referendum sometime in the future, or hold the referendum at the next general village elections in March, 1975.

Some taxpayers, however, didn't like the idea. A 179-signature petition opposing the pay raises, and demanding that the question be put to a village-wide referendum, was filed with the village clerk May 30. Since the petition was termed legal with the idea of tempering the

Home Building Picture Described as 'Glum'

KIAMESHA LAKE, N.Y. (UPI) — Joseph B. Doherty, president of the National Association of Realtors, calling the home building picture in the Northeast "particularly glum," says new housing starts in the United States this year will likely not meet the level he had predicted in January.

"At this juncture, indications are we will not obtain this figure," he said Monday of his original prediction of 1.6 million starts, attributing the slump to the tight money situation.

Addressing 650 delegates to the annual convention of the New England Realtors Association at the Concord Hotel, Doherty said the national association would press its efforts in Washington for an emergency mortgage credit bill to ease bank interest rates on mortgage loans.

"Every time our government goes through some kind of an inflationary squeeze, there must be some safeguard that stops the automatic gouging of our industry," he said. "Easy mortgage money is our lifeblood."

He said, however, that recent conferences with top Federal Reserve Board officials led him to believe that the tight money situation would continue for some time.

Doherty said it was vital that leaders of industry make a "moral commitment" to so-

Fish Wants Nuclear Plant Ban

WASHINGTON, D.C. — A temporary ban on construction permits for atomic power plants has been called for by Congressman Hamilton Fish Jr., (R-25th Dist.) who this week expressed concern about "abnormal occurrences" at Consolidated Edison's Indian Point nuclear power facility in Westchester County.

A 1973 Atomic Energy Commission report showed more than 850 abnormal occurrences took place at nuclear plants across the country. A five-year reappraisal of the entire nuclear fuel cycle is called for by Fish who has co-sponsored a bill calling for a study and the placing of a moratorium on the granting of construction permits until the study is completed.

Among the hazards, Fish associates with atomic power plants are storage of wastes, routine emission and safety problems.

Fish's move is significant in that a number of new atomic plant proposals have been advanced for various sites throughout his district, and adjacent to it.

A Poughkeepsie site is being considered for a fossil fuel plant. The Indian Point Plant is in Westchester County, part of which he represents and there are plans in the making for plants in the Town of Lloyd as well as in Cementon and Athens, areas he previously represented before reapportionment.

The Lloyd A-plant proposal has been of particular concern not only to residents of Ulster County but to those in Dutchess County. The Hudson Valley Citizens Watch on Nuclear safety which has urged a moratorium on the proposed plants, points out that 5,241 people from Hyde Park to Poughkeepsie to New Paltz, Esopus and Kingston, circling all points of the compass around Lloyd have signed petitions against nuclear plants.

HVCWS contends they "recognize that radiation knows no boundaries, and that they would be as vulnerable as Highland residents in the Town of Lloyd in case of an atomic accident."

Earlier this month Highland residents rejected by 71 per cent to 29 per cent, the siting them of a nuclear power plant in until they reached an existing corridor.

The Lloyd Town Board now plans to take a stand on the atomic plant at its July 11 meeting. The board has been under some criticism for moving plant critics for not moving sooner following the overwhelming referendum against the power plant in Lloyd.

Nuclear Study...

— The rail spur to the proposed Lloyd plant. Current plans call for an overpass, which will also contain the vehicular access road, he said.

— Growth in Lloyd spurred by a reduction in taxes from the plant. Robertson said demand was more important than taxes. "Lowering the tax rate does not mean there's going to be a big building boom in your town," he said.

— Employment at the plant once it is built. He said it would employ from 100 to 120, with only 20 or 30 of them having such specialized jobs they would likely not come from the community.

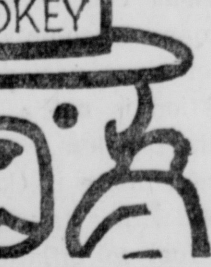

— Utility lines. Robertson said present plans called for cent to 29 per cent, the siting them of a nuclear power plant in until they reached an existing corridor.

Election Year Syndrome

The massive tax-cut bill under debate in the Senate would increase deductions for lower-income Americans and, at the bottom of the income scale, would authorize "reverse income tax" payments from the federal government to poor families.

It would be unfortunate if Congress tried to buy votes with a tax cut that would only add fuel to inflation and further rob the voters of their purchasing power.

Fast - But at What Cost

Questions about the desirability and feasibility of supersonic flight must nevertheless be asked. It is a matter of weighing its advantages against the disadvantages, notably including the cost to the public.

We believe the public cost and other disadvantages outweigh the potential benefits of supersonic flight, given the present state of technology. This will change only when costs become economically feasible and when atmospheric and sound pollution problems are brought under control. As things now stand, commercial supersonic flight is unjustifiably expensive and environment-threatening. Under these circumstances it can still be said that Congress acted wisely in withholding further tax money for an American SST development project.

1. The President's threat to veto the Senate rider is probably a gesture for the benefit of the Soviet Union. With 78 co-sponsors, the bill is not likely to yield to presidential persuasion on the matter of American obligations to respect the rights of other governments to write their own domestic policies. It is, however, officially the American position that the Senate's Jackson Amendment, by tying economic detente to particular Soviet policies towards minority emigration, is threatening to the whole

This is good news but inevitably brings up the delicate question: how can we tell that the Soviet Union will live up to its word? Usually we can tell that the Soviet Union will not live up to its word, and that should always be the governing assumption. The way to put it is: are there special circumstances here that suggest an extraordinary Soviet fidelity to their word? Soviet

But apart from this, there is probably a reason why the Soviet attitude towards Jewish emigration is softening, and probably that is the lessening of pressure from the Arab states. It is a constant refrain in the United Nations that the Soviet Union plays a double

So we move forward a little bit, and although all the theoretical exercises of Nixon and Kissinger are correct, in fact we have, thanks to Henry Jackson, made a little genuine progress here. Congratulations.

BERRY'S WORLD

"I've got an idea! Why don't you and I go on a quick 'round the world trip and recharge our batteries?"

In response, Magruder would lay off playing middle-class - boy - goes - to - lower-class-penitentiary and switch over to repeating his act of contrition. Forgive me, dear public, for I have sinned grievously against thy electoral process. In the business of public confessions Magruder, a fifth-echelon pipsqueak with little to purge himself of, is outclassed by Jesus' new and effusive who is acting less and less like a United States Senator and more and more like a theatrical Anabaptist.

Colson and Magruder are no more tolerable on their knees than they were on their feet, but in either position the sincerity of their confessions should be a matter between them and their God, assuming He cares. This twaddle about the honesty of their confessions provides us with so much entertainment that we are distracted from the main business, part of which is that the big guys are getting away.

Former Attorney General Richard Kleindienst has been Jaworski himself has offered no explanation for giving Kleindienst a pass, but then there is a lot Jaworski has to explain. Why is Magruder doing 10 months to four years while Harry Heltzer and Russell DeYoung, chairmen of 3M and Goodyear respectively, get off with $500 and $1,000 fines?

When a scalawag like Harding L. Lawrence, chairman of the Board of Braniff Airways, is allowed to plead guilty to but one violation of the Federal Code, it is not only that his lawyers have plea bargained him into a measly $1,000 fine and kept

By negotiating with Lawrence, Jaworski protected this man. He had help from the judge, the same George L. Hart, Jr., who let Kleindienst off without a fine or a day in jail and then presented this self-confessed liar with a good citizenship award. At Lawrence's sentencing this same judge was told that the businessman was "under some pressure to make this contribution," but Hart didn't ask for the names of the men putting pressure on the Braniff chairman.

Hart's conduct is explicable. A former dispenser of Republican patronage, he had a record long before Watergate of being a biased

There is no one to call him like Jaworski to account. Secrecy protects almost everything that the judges and lawyers connected with Watergate do. Secrecy is the law profession's equivalent to executive privilege, but what is plainly out in the open is that by putting the Magruders in jail and giving a pass to the Laurencs, Jaworski and Hart are doing their best to see that Watergate gets repeated. Jail does deter white-collar crooks.

The money and the ambivalence for lawlessness come from the businessmen who put up the illegal millions in the campaign. Without them there could be no Watergate. Magruders are available by the peck. It's the real white-collar criminals, the Lawrence types, who put up the dough to make the buy.

Summit III... A Modest Outlook

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS another palpable foreign policy success, though Watergate in it self nudges Soviet doubts about the prospective continuity of American policy.

Brezhnev's leadership is on the line. He wants to retain the Soviet image of peacemaker, but he needs also to show doubt in his camp some tangible profit from detente.

Summit I in Moscow in 1972 and Summit II in Washington last year aroused widespread hope that a genuine relaxation might be in prospect. This time the world may have to be content with a consolation prize, such as agreement that nuclear testing ought to be further limited or some resounding declaration of good intentions with re-

But the ideological wall remains high. Difficulties that have kept relations sour for decades are still there, some made even more formidable by recent developments.

SALT II, the second round of strategic arms limitation talks, failed to produce promise of real results in time to give either Nixon or Brezhnev an opportunity for the sort of spectacular announcement that might lend luster to their summit.

Talks on reduction of troops in Central Europe have gone nowhere. Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger, though an architect of the policy of negotiation, warned this month that congressional pressure for a one-sided cutback of American troops would "remove Soviet incentives to negotiate seriously."

Another reminder of mistrust is the 35-nation European Security Conference. The Russians campaigned for such a conference for 20 years. Now in session for nearly a year, it has gotten nowhere, hung up on a Soviet suspicion that a Western demand for freer exchange of people and information betrays an intention to subvert Communist systems. Brezhnev still hopes for an all-European summit next month, but any announcement regarding the security conference is also likely to be for cosmetic purposes. It can hardly be real.

Brezhnev must be angry frustrated at his failure thus far to win "most-favored-nation" treatment in trade with the United States. One issue standing in the way of treating the Soviet Union on a par with America's best customers is that of freedom of emigration. Moscow angrily denounces those demanding it as attempting to interfere in Soviet affairs. Recently, President Nixon agreed with him.

Kissinger's diplomatic spectaculars in the Middle East have mortified the Kremlin, which spent billions arming, aiding and wooing Arabs, only to have them fall into American arms. After 20 years of building in the strategic area, it has been a painful setback for the Russians.

Capital Punishment May Return Soon

COEUR D'ALENE, Idaho (AP) — Capital punishment may resume in the United States as soon as a year from now, predicts the head of a study group of the National Association of Attorneys General.

Oklahoma Atty. Gen. Larry Derryberry, chairman of the Capital Punishment Committee of the NAAG, said Sunday that many state capital punishment laws will be upheld because they meet U.S. Supreme Court guidelines.

However, he said the big push for reinstatement of the death penalty appears to be over with more than half the states having opted for capital punishment, usually for premeditated murder and similar crimes.

"The states did not overreact following the Supreme Court decision" of 1972 that invalidated capital punishment statutes in Texas and Georgia, Derryberry said.

"Fewer states now have the death penalty on the books, and they apply to fewer crimes than before the Supreme Court decision," he added.

Derryberry said the first Supreme Court challenges to the new statutes probably will come from Oklahoma or Florida convictions. He said his state now has three death penalties pending.

"I don't know which state will reach the federal appeals stage first," Derryberry said. "But I think ours, at least, will be upheld. Like most states, we meet the Supreme Court guidelines which require lack of discrimination and discretion in application of the penalty."

Derryberry, interviewed prior to the first business session of the NAAG convention, said the 11 other attorneys-general on his committee are convinced that capital punishment is a deterrent to murder and other crimes.

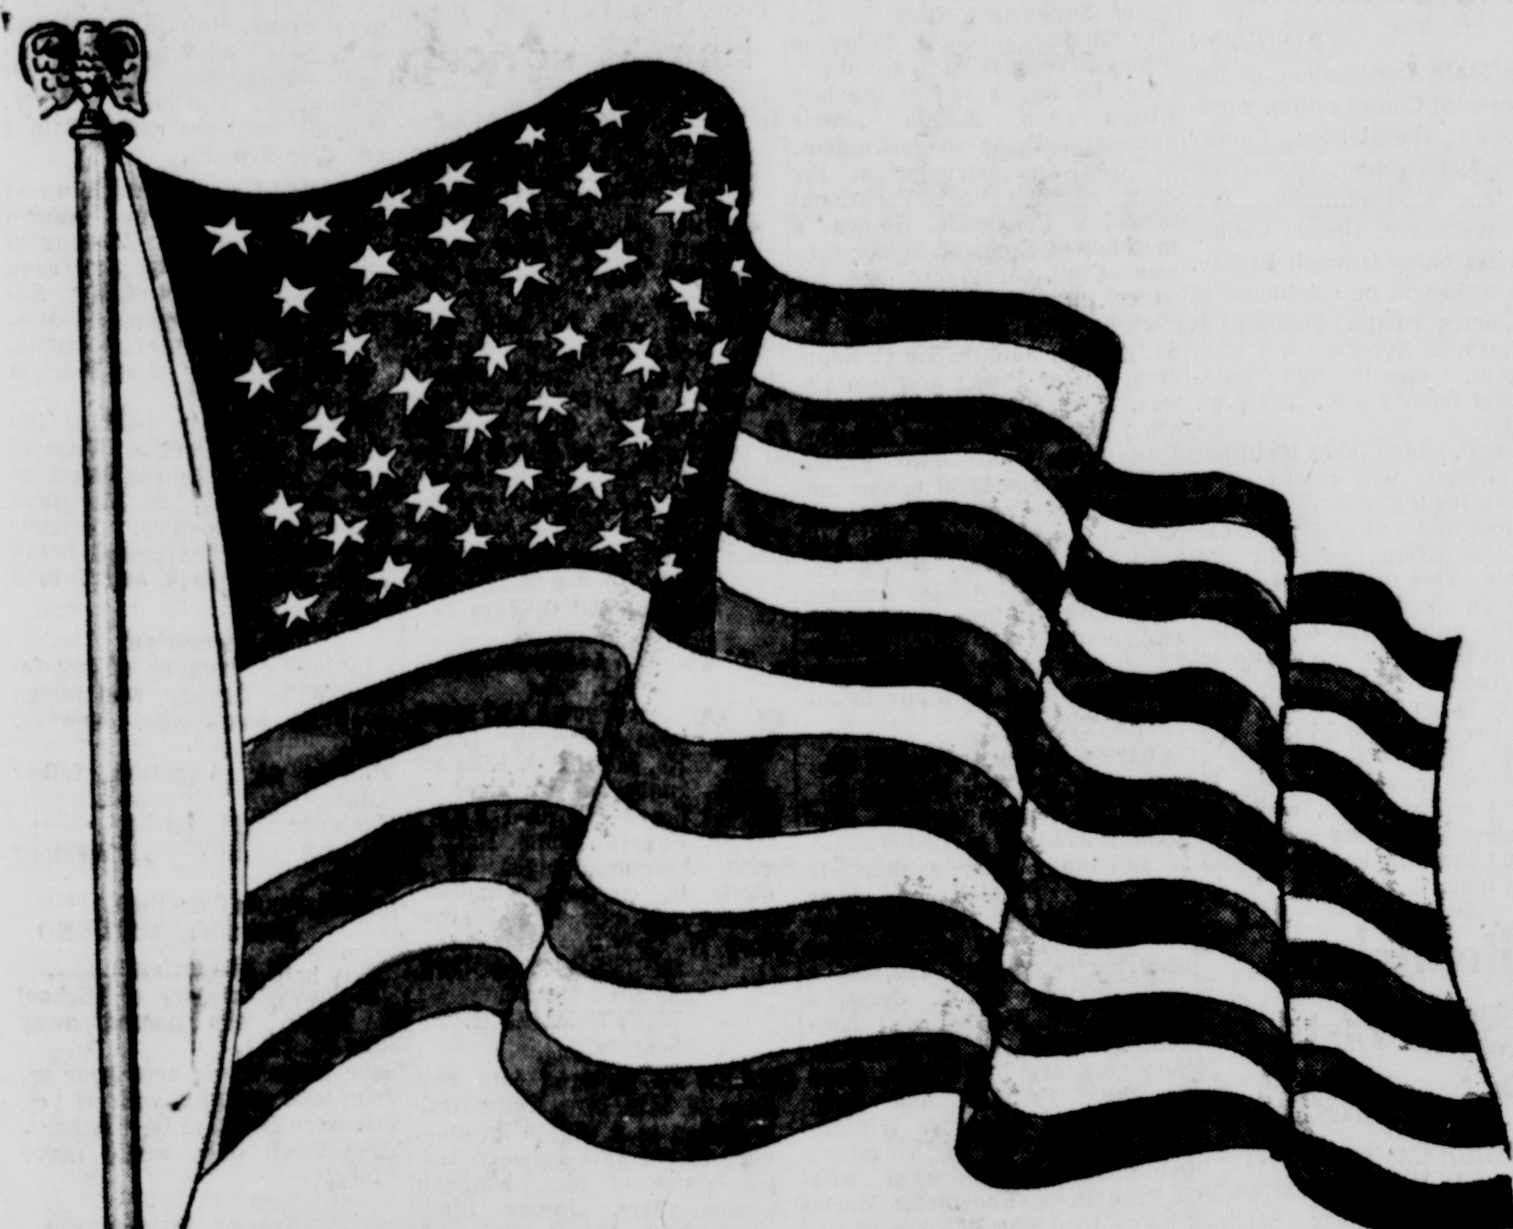

Another committee chairman, Virginia Atty. Gen. Andrew P. Miller, said his colleagues want a cooperative agreement with the Justice Department on the handling of antitrust prosecution.

Miller, who heads the antitrust committee, said 30 state attorney-general's offices are assisting the Federal Trade Commission in its actions against major oil companies.

"Some attorneys general believe that the energy crisis was caused by manipulations of the oil industry, but I don't think so," he said. "Regardless, we are working out ways to handle this type of case..."

Convicted Guerrillas Flown to Cairo Airport

CAIRO (UPI) — Eight arrived "at an early hour" aboard a special plane. Arab life sentences for murdering two American diplomats and a Belgian envoy were commuted to virtual freedom arrived in Cairo early today, the semi-official Middle East News Agency said.

Sudanese President Jaafar Numeiry commuted a court decision Monday and ordered the eight Black September guerrillas flown from the Sudan to the custody of the Palestine Liberation Organization.

The Middle East News Agency said the terrorists

The guerrillas were tried for killing the three diplomats during a siege at the Saudi Arabian embassy in March, 1973. The attack and trial caused a major controversy in the Arab world.

The trial, the first such tribunal involving guerrillas in any Arab country, ended June 16. The court announced Monday that all eight men had been found guilty of murder and sentenced to life imprisonment.

Within hours, Numeiry commuted the sentences to seven years and then ordered the defendants handed over to the PLO, a statement by the Khartoum court said.

Market Basket Figures Are On the Rise

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Agriculture Department's statistical "food market basket" is higher again and the figures back up administration claims that increasing profit margins of stores and wholesalers are behind the high price of food.

The annual retail cost of a typical food market basket went up to $1.733 in May — an increase of 0.3 per cent or $5 from the April rate. The figure released Monday is a statistical one — a selection of U.S. farm-produced food needed to feed a household of 3.2 persons for a year. While it does not match average family food costs, changes in the statistic indicate changes in grocery bills.

According to the report, the farm value of foods in the basket declined for the fifth consecutive month to an annual rate of $690 in May, down $34 from April. But middlemen's margins — costs and profits in processing and selling foods — rose for the fifth consecutive month and reached $1.043 in May, up $39 from April.

Don Paariberg, director of the department's economics section, told Congress that the margin between what the farmer receives and the consumer pays will continue to increase "substantially" for the remainder of the year.

Paariberg said that the farm-retail price spread would "continue the upward push" as a result of rising wages, energy and material costs and transportation charges.

Auto Emissions Tests Underway

KINGSTON — The State Department of Environmental Conservation, working with the Ulster County Health Department, has scheduled free auto emissions systems tests for Ulster County motorists today through Friday.

The tests will be conducted in the County Health Building at 300 Flatbush Avenue from noon to 8 p.m. today through Thursday, and from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. Friday.

The test, which takes less than five minutes, will result in a courtesy rating sheet showing each motorist how well his exhaust emissions system is working. This will be accompanied by specific recommendations for adjustment of repairs that will bring the vehicle up to state standards.

There is no cost to the motorist for participation in the program. The DEC said it is a simple and inexpensive way to help the environment, while at the same time finding out how to improve the efficiency of a motorist's car.

Bethlehem Steel Lists Price Hikes

BETHLEHEM, Pa. (UPI) — Citing "price levels already established by other producers," Bethlehem Steel Co. has announced price increases ranging from 5 to 15 per cent on a number of rolled steel products.

A company spokesman said Monday the move was prompted by cost increases during May and June, "plus clearly identified additional increases over the next few months."

He said the move "recognizes price levels already established by other producers" and "constitutes the long delayed first step towards earnings margins, which were not raised by prior price increases."

Ulster Man Is Arrested

TOWN OF ULSTER — A 22-year-old Town of Ulster man was arrested Monday night at his residence on a warrant charging him with felony possession of marijuana.

State police charged Michael Cline of 8 Meadow Brook Court, Whittier Development, with fifth degree possession of a controlled substance.

Police said the arrest warrant was issued by Kingston Town Justice Robert Ferrigan after police, armed with a search warrant, raided Cline's residence last Friday and came away with more than an ounce of alleged marijuana and 15 alleged marijuana plants that were growing in the yard. Cline was not home when the search warrant was executed, police said.

Arraigned before Justice Ferrigan, Cline was confined in Ulster County Jail in lieu of $1,000 bail pending a later reappearance in court.

We wish to gratefully acknowledge to our relatives, friends, neighbors, clubs and companies their acts of kindness and expressions of sympathy during our grief in the recent loss of our mother, Frances M. White.

Darius Milhaud
GENEVA (UPI) — Darius Milhaud, a rebel composer and a titan of 20th century music, has died in Geneva at the age of 81.

Milhaud, who produced more than 400 compositions in a career of more than 50 years, had suffered from heart trouble for several years and his condition had increasingly worsened in the past few months. He died Saturday.

Milhaud's unusual work, from South American folk music to American jazz, at first stunned critics and audiences accustomed to the classical style but later influenced many modern composers, including George Gershwin.

His operas and ballets included the renowned "Creation of the World," composed in 1923, and the monumental "L'Orestea," a trilogy of operas based on the Greek tragedies of Aeschylus, on which he worked for 12 years.

He also wrote a brief composition mourning the Nov. 22, 1963, assassination of President John F. Kennedy. "Murder of a Great Chief of State," in two days following the murder.

Milhaud was born in Aix-en-Provence, France, on Sept. 4, 1892, and studied music there and in Paris, publishing his first work in 1912.

In 1916, he went to Brazil for two years and came in contact with the South American folk music which he incorporated into his own work.

Upon the death of Ravel in 1937, Milhaud was considered by many authorities as France's foremost living composer.

In recent years he had lived in a villa in the Geneva suburb of Chene-Bourg with his wife Madeleine, whom he married in 1925.

Rosemary Baggot Weds D.C. Markle Jr.

MRS. DONALD CHIPP MARKLE JR.
(Rosemary Jeanette Baggot)
(Reynolds Studio)

Rosemary Jeanette Baggot, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Baggot, 93 Lucas Avenue, Kingston, became the bride of Donald Chipp Markle Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Markle Sr. of Lucas Avenue Extension, Hurley.

The Rev. Randall Bosch officiated at the ceremony Sunday, June 16 at Fair Street, Reformed Church, Kingston. Mrs. Alan Sparks provided traditional wedding selections.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore her mother's wedding gown of heirloom ivory Chantilly lace. The gown featured an insert scooped neckline of illusion net, a tapered waistline, and a full skirt with a cathedral-length train. A Camelot cap of lace and seed pearls held her two-tiered, ivory, silk illusion veil. She carried an arm bouquet of multi-colored majestic daisies, carnations, iris, asters and baby's breath.

Jeanette M. Baggot of 93 Lucas Avenue, Kingston, was maid of honor for her sister in an empire-styled, dotted swiss gown with a Nile green lining. Ivory lace formed an apron-effect on the skirt and edged the V-neckline. She wore a green picture hat accented with tiny blue flowers and carried a bouquet similar to the bride's.

John Markle of Hurley was best man for his brother. Ushers were Geoffrey Markle, Hurley, brother of the bridegroom, and Dan Stings of Hurley.

A reception was given at The Hedges in West Park.

The bride, a 1971 graduate of Kingston High School, is a senior at Hartwick College, Oneonta, where she is majoring in Geology. Her husband, an alumnus of KHS and Ulster County Community College, is a sergeant in the U.S. Army, stationed at Fort Belvoir, Va., a Behavioral Science technician. He plans to attend George Washington University in the fall.

The couple will reside in Virginia.

Lundin-McNeany Vows Exchanged

Mr. and Mrs. Wallace C. Lundin of Shokan announce the marriage of their daughter, Jeri Ilene, to Steven Robert McNeany, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. Raymond McNeany of Catskill.

The Rev. Walter G. Litke, pastor of Our Savior's Lutheran Church in Albany, officiated at the ceremony Saturday, June 15 at Trinity Evangelical Lutheran Church, Kingston. Sherry Heedron, organist, provided wedding selections.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She selected a white gown of polyester organza in the Empire styling. The bodice was accented with Venice lace interlaced with pink ribbon. The gown featured semi-bishop sleeves and a wide flounce which was crystal-pleated. Her chapel length mantilla, bordered with matching lace, was attached to a Juliet cap. She carried a cascade bouquet of phalaenopsis orchids and stephanotis.

Carolyn Needy of Fishkill was maid of honor in a gown of pink floral embossed print over pink lining. Pink ribbon outlined the Empire waistline. The V-neckline, sleeves and hemline were accented with tiers of ruffles. She wore a picture hat and carried a nosegay of pink carnations, white pompons and ivy.

Robert Pelham of Catskill was best man. Ushers were Brian Lundin, Shokan, brother of the bride, and Ray McNeany, Catskill, brother of the bridegroom.

A reception was given at Wildwyck Village, West Park.

The bride, a 1973 graduate of State University of New York at Albany, was employed in the Programming Publications Department at IBM, Kingston, prior to her marriage.

The bridegroom received his Master of Engineering degree in Nuclear Engineering at Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute at Troy in May.

After a wedding trip to Virginia Beach, the couple will reside in Oak Ridge, Tenn., where the bridegroom is employed by Union Carbide.

New members were accepted into membership of Ulster County Legal Secretaries Association and committee chairmen were appointed at the June 19 dinner meeting at Blue Ship Inn, Saugerties.

President Michelle Schwerdtfeger initiated new members, Janice Buchanan, Diane Slate and Phyllis McCabe.

Committee chairmen include Candace Schwerdtfeger, dinner reservations; Gayla

DeFabio, bulletin; Carol Teelon, programs; Alice Krom, publicity; Karen Bitonte, employment; Anne Naccarato, historian; Carmela Cruise, ways and means; Joan Moone, scholarship; Ruth Wood, professional legal secretaries; Bette Maxson and Geraldine Costello, education; Joane Moone, annual breakfast.

Anna Mary Grote, parliamentarian; Bette Maxson, Bar liaison; Patricia Vernoo, membership; June Krom, pins and charms; Carol Teelon, welfare; Barbara Kelly, para-legal; Lorraine Murphy, insurance; Marlene Ganss, theatre trips; Merem Tschitan, day in court; Marleen Ganss, nominations and elections; Karen Bitonte and Carmela Cruise, by-laws.

A meeting of committee chairmen will be held July 11 at 7 p.m. at the home of Marleen Ganss.

In the absence of Joan Moon, chairman of scholarship committee, an award was presented by Carmela Cruise to Diana Walker of Glenford, a senior at Ontario Central School who will attend Ulster County Community College in September. Miss Walker is presently a student at IBM and maintains a 92 average.

Program Chairman Carol Teelon introduced Thomas Mayone, senior investigator, district attorney's office, who spoke on narcotics and the consumer fraud program in Ulster County.

Guests included Mrs. E. Miller, Norma Carpino, Laura Jankiewicz, Julie Garvin, Carole Gregg, Betty Potenza, Karen Buckley, Karol Bushnell, Jackie Kibi, Jackie Smith, Diane Reynolds, Jeanne Snyder, Debbie Maday and Peggy Riley.

The next dinner meeting is scheduled for July 17 at Mariner's Harbor, Highland.

LEGAL SECRETARIES — Thomas Mayone, senior investigator from the district attorney's office, was guest speaker at the recent dinner meeting of Ulster County Legal Secretaries Association. The event took place at Blue Ship Inn, Saugerties. Among those in attendance were (L-R) Carmela Cruise, scholarship committee; Michelle Schwerdtfeger, president; and Miss Diana Walker, a senior at Ontario Central School who received an award from the Legal Secretaries Association. Distaff Digest

La Leche League

La Leche League will meet Wednesday at 8 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Susan Leatherman, 261 Pearl Street, Kingston. The topic will be: "The Art of Breastfeeding and Overcoming Difficulties."

Guest Speaker

Mathilda Brailove, a past president of National Women's Division of United Jewish Appeal, will speak to the women of the community Wednesday at 3:30 p.m. at Temple Emanuel, Kingston, prior to her speaking engagement at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Saul Goldfarb in Kingston. The informal talk will include latest information about Israel based upon experiences encountered during her 30 trips there. All interested women are invited. Babysitting facilities will be available.

Rose Society

The first annual banquet and awards dinner of Mid-Hudson Rose Society is planned for Wednesday at The Hedges, West Park. Cocktails are slated for 6:30 p.m. with dinner at 7 o'clock. Highlight of the evening will be the presentation of trophies and certificates to the winners of the recent Rose Show.

Fair, Art Exhibit

New Paltz Art Association announces its participation in the Fair and Art Exhibit sponsored by New Paltz Library Saturday, July 6. The Library is located on Main Street, New Paltz.

Association members exhibiting in this fair are asked to bring their paintings to the library by 9 a.m. on July 6.

JUDITH CHASE will teach the summer weaving class for Woodstock Guild of Craftsmen in her studio on John Jay Road. Mrs. Chase studied with the late Berta Frey and has instructed classes at Ulster County Community College and the Guild. A charter member of Woodstock Weavers Guild, she has exhibited and sold her weaving in this area. During this past year, she set up a 1720 loom at the General Herkimer Home in Little Falls for weaving demonstrations there. The summer session will meet Tuesday and Thursday afternoons during July. Registration may be made by contacting the Guild or Mrs. Chase. (Freeman photo by Kruh)

Minority Has Right to Its Privacy, Too

DEAR ABBY: We are two students at Scripps College in Claremont, Cal., who are distressed by the attitudes of the majority of the girls in our residence hall concerning male visitors.

Not only are men allowed in the girls' rooms 24 hours a day, but they are also allowed to use our bathroom facilities!

We find it particularly embarrassing to encounter men just outside the showers with only a towel wrapped around them.

These rules were approved by the majority of the girls in our dormitory, but we feel that, as a minority, we have certain right to our privacy, and that since this is a women's college, we shouldn't have to accommodate men in our living quarters.

We would appreciate your advice on this subject and hope you will print this so that girls at other women's colleges who share the ideas of the majority will have a greater respect for the sentiments of the minority.

DOUBTFUL

Suspecting that "Doubtful's" letter might have been a put-on, I wrote to the Dean of Students and asked for verification. I received the following reply:

Dear Ms. Van Buren: I have received your letter and the enclosed letter from one of our students. Indeed, the situation which she has described is not a "put-on." Though ours is a residential college for women, the college community, at the express request of students, adopted a 24-hour visitation system three years ago.

Part of the understanding inherent in this procedure, and one which the students must reaffirm each year, is that special consideration and accommodations be given to any student in any residence hall who finds herself, as "Doubtful" does, in the minority. She has only to talk to the president of the hall, the residence staff person, or to one of us in the Dean of Students office, and we will make every effort to provide her with a living situation compatible with her particular lifestyle.

DEAR ABBY: My 88-year-old mother died of cancer last week. During her illness which lasted for about eight months, she occupied our guest bedroom.

I want to make sure the room is entirely disinfected. Would having the carpet, curtains and mattress dry cleaned make it safe for others to sleep in that room? I have already scrubbed the walls and furniture with disinfectant.

A friend of mine said I should burn up everything that was in that room and repaint just to be on the safe side. Please advise me.

WORRIED

DEAR WORRIED: Your friend is mistaken. Cancer is not a contagious or infectious disease. Since there is no known germ or virus which causes cancer there are no "germs" to get rid of. Give the room a thorough routine cleaning and forget about it.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "CRYING A RIVER IN BUFFALO": Believe him. It's all over. I think you gave too much. There's nothing for him to come back for.

Problems? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

A Low Calorie Lunch for Hot Summer Days

There's nothing like trying on bathing suits to make one renew the diet vows that were last thought of while compiling the annual New Year's resolution. So, with summer here and lots of warm weather, why not serve this light low calorie lunch that will please dieters and also satisfy those lucky thin ones who are apt to prefer a light meal on hot days.

Cottage cheese and fresh vegetables (right out of the garden if you're fortunate) — very thin sliced bread — and fruits in season are the main ingredients for this summer lunch.

THIN SLICED TOAST

Using very thin sliced bread, cut each slice into two triangles. Brush with melted butter or margarine on both sides.

Dust one side lightly with onion, garlic, or celery salt. Toast or broil until brown on both sides and very crisp. Serve with . . .

LOW CALORIE COTTAGE CHEESE SALAD

Line a large, individual salad bowl (a small soup dish does just fine) with lettuce leaves.

Place a mound of cottage cheese in the center and surround with tomato slices, thinly sliced raw carrot, radish slices, green pepper rings, and scallions. Splash with low-calorie Italian salad dressing and serve at once. Finish off the meal with this dessert that serves four.

FRUIT CUP WITH CRUNCHY CINNAMON TOPPING

Cut 2 slices of toasting white bread into one-half inch cubes. Melt 2 tablespoons of butter or margarine in a small skillet and add bread. Stir constantly over low heat until cubes are golden brown. Remove from heat.

Sprinkle bread cubes with one tablespoon sugar and one-fourth teaspoon cinnamon. Stir quickly to coat bread cubes on all sides.

While the cubes cool, cut up four cups of assorted fruit pieces — halved strawberries, orange or grapefruit sections, stemmed green grapes, diced unpeeled red apple.

Spoon fruit into serving dish and then sprinkle with the bread cubes.

HERE'S A LIGHT yet satisfying way to diet . . . a low calorie cottage cheese salad with thin sliced white bread toasted, fruit cup with a crunchy cinnamon topping.

Meat Sales Still Consistent

Sales consistent with the previous weeks will greet the consumer as they shop for next week's menu, according to the Consumer and Market Information Service of the New York State Department of Agriculture and Markets. Although they are not as varied, most classes of meats will be represented in the showcase next week.

Beef items to look for with enticing price tags are sirloin steak for $1.19 to $1.59, round steak $1.28 to $1.29, boneless beef London broil $1.59, short ribs 89 cents, skinless beef liver at 59 cents. Chuck steak, first cut will be 65 cents to 75 cents, center cuts 75 cents to 89 cents, and semi-boneless at 95 cents to 97 cents, top round roast $1.48, chuck roast 75 cents. Franks will be featured also at 59 cents to $1.09 per pound.

Sales on pork can be found in all local areas. Ham cuts will be the heavily featured item, smoked butt at 55 cents to 75 cents, ham shank 45 cents to 55 cents. Canned ham in some areas will carry price tags of $2.98 for a 3 lb. tin, $4.95 to $5.85 for 5 lbs., smoked picnic at 99 cents, rib chops 88 cents, loin chops 98 cents and combination for 85 cents. Spareribs will carry attractive price of 75 cents to 85 cents, sliced bacon and sausage links for 65 cents to $1.05.

Poultry items will be lightly featured. Broilers and fryers will carry their usual price tags of 39 cents to 60 cents. Turkeys are the main featured item in the poultry line at 49 cents to 59 cents. Lamb and veal are around and can be easily picked up.

Alumni Association Names Publications Committee Chairman

Patrick Gorman, of Kingston, has been appointed chairman of the Publications Committee of the Ulster County Community College Alumni Association, president Keith Jordan announced today.

As head of this committee, Gorman will work on periodic newsletters to alumni members and will handle other publications as the need arises.

A resident of 21 Harding Avenue, Kingston, Gorman attended UCCC from 1970 to 1973. At the College he was a sportswriter for the Tower, the student newspaper; was a sports commentator for N.O.T.A., a weekly television program; and was one of the founders of a campus radio station. He also was manager and statistician for the varsity basketball team and statistician for the baseball team.

After leaving Ulster, Gorman attended and graduated from an Umpire Training School in St. Petersburg, Fla., and currently umpires baseball games in the area.

STOCKADE COLORING BOOK—Mrs. Maurice Brown of the Stockade Committee Inc., presents a first edition copy of the Stockade Coloring Book to Mayor Francis R. Koenig. The city of Kingston appropriated $2,000 toward the production of the book which depicts colonial scenes. On the left is Dr. Louis Tucker, chairman of the New York State Bicentennial Commission, joined by Mrs. John Murphy of the Stockade Committee with Alderman John E. Finch, chairman of the Common Council's Finance, Ways and Means Committee, on the right. A total of 10,000 books were in the first press run and are now on sale as a fund raising program for the city's bicentennial celebration.

Budget to Top School Board Agenda

KINGSTON The final meeting for the current Board of Education for the Kingston school district will be held at 8:30 p. m. on Thursday, June 27, at the Crown Street administrative center in Kingston.

The major item up for consideration is the budget for the 1974-75 school year. The board has presented a tentative budget for $18,892,000, but this must be amended to reflect increases granted four groups (teachers, administrators, custodial and cafeteria workers, and secretaries) currently negotiating with the district.

Business to be considered includes a budget statement, statement of vouchers, report of the collector-treasurer, and a report on the school lunch and milk program for May by Mrs. Evelyn Corsones, chairwoman of the Business Management Committee.

The board also will consider bids for milk, ice cream, pie, cafeteria paper supplies, custodial supplies, a cooperative fuel oil bid, a bid for replacement windows at Meagher School, and bids on four compact cars and a standard sedan for District use.

Business to be considered includes a budget statement, statement of vouchers, report of the collector-treasurer, and a report on the school lunch and milk program for May by Mrs. Evelyn Corsones, chairwoman of the Business Management Committee.

The board also will consider bids for milk, ice cream, pie, cafeteria paper supplies, custodial supplies, a cooperative fuel oil bid, a bid for replacement windows at Meagher School, and bids on four compact cars and a standard sedan for District use.

The board will hold a reorganizational meeting at the Crown Street center on Monday, July 1. Two new board members, Mrs. Doris Mulvin and Fred Hoffbauer, will be sworn in. They replace Harold K. Keator Jr., the board president, and H. Peter Hoffman, neither of whom ran for reelection.

Mrs. Mulvin and Hoffbauer will serve three year terms.

Dispute in Hurley . . . Letters Filed

By CARL GRAHAM HURLEY

Anyone who expected a dispute between Supervisor "Jake" Croswell and Councilman Jack Rose at Monday night's Hurley Town Board meeting was disappointed.

Rose, away on vacation, sent a letter critical of the Hurley Planning Board. Croswell read a letter in reply, and the board filed both letters without comment.

Rose noted that the town board had directed planners to cancel an extension of preliminary approval granted to Neumann and Antilla for the second phase of Pleasant Ridge Estates in West Hurley. Rose said that the Planning Board's rejection of their letter without listing its reasons was "totally unreasonable and certainly not in the best interest of the town."

He asked for a special town board meeting at which planners would have to explain their position "relative to the exceptions they have taken to subdivision regulations" and if they fail to cancel their extension of approval "then I would seek their immediate resignation."

In his reply Croswell said: "We need more cooperation in the form of dissent and criticism on your part." He defended the Planning Board, saying that members put in long hours without compensation "and should not be intimidated by you in seeking their resignation because they happen to disagree in your decision."

Croswell said he would be on vacation beginning next week but that Deputy Supervisor George Schroeder would be available to call a special meeting in accordance with town law.

William J. Oehler, owner of Oehler's Mountain Lodge off Morgan Hill Road, wrote to the board explaining his change of price on a 35-acre tract he has offered to sell the town for a recreation area, shale bank, and landfill site.

Oehler said his original price ($50,000) did not include the parking lot and would have given Oehler the right to rent the field and swimming pool for use of lodge guests. "I realized this was really prime time I was after and the people of the town would not accept it," Oehler said.

His decision to raise the price to $140,000 was based on his need to build a new parking lot and another sewage disposal system he said. Further study had led him to propose other alternatives, and he now offers the town the "full deal," including swimming pool, ball field, and land for the shale bank and landfill, for $115,000.

Alternatively the town can have the pool complex and parking lot with no additional land for $95,000, he said.

Councilman Henry Paul said he wanted a professional opinion on the proposition and Croswell said he would ask Herbert Hekker, Ulster County Planning Board director, to investigate the site and make recommendations on its possible use.

Paul and Town Justice Alton Boyce reported on a meeting with Ontario Superintendent of Schools Dr. Frank Marlow to discuss possible purchase of 2.5 acres at the West Hurley Elementary School for use as a recreation area. Paul said there was no point in purchasing the land and that Dr. Marlow had been reluctant to let it go, and suggested it be rented. "I hope to have a playground there within a year, and it won't cost the town any big bankroll," Paul said. He said it could be developed for outdoor basketball and ice skating in winter.

In other action, the board:

- Voted to continue the town recreation program for a year beginning July 1.
- Transferred $1,500 into the Social Services account for home relief because 1974 appropriations have been spent.
- Voted $200 to the Hurley Senior Citizens and asked the West Hurley senior group to affiliate with the Senior Citizens Alliance so it would be eligible for similar town grants.
- Referred to the Zoning Board of Appeals a letter from Leon Yonick with suggestions for town zoning regulations.
- Noted that the Department of Transportation had approved a 45 miles an hour speed limit on the proposition and Croswell said he would ask Herbert Hekker, Ulster County Planning Board director, to investigate the site and make recommendations on its possible use.
- Voted to advertise for bids for a fence around the Old Hurley Cemetery.

Offer $1,000 for Hole-in-One

You can win a $1,000 prize by acting the No. 17 hole in the fourth annual Hugo Knauer Memorial Golf Tournament Thursday at Sawyerkill Country Club. William D. Brinnier, publicity chairman, has announced.

It is the largest prize for a hole-in-one ever offered in area golf history. The tournament is sponsored by the Saugerties Lions Club Scholarship and the proceeds assist in subsidizing the four $100 scholarships given by the Lions to a Saugerties High School senior.

The scholarship is given to the recipient who attends an accredited institution of higher education for four years.

Kenneth Harder, tournament chairman, announced that there are still openings for golfers for the 7:30-8:30 and 12:30-1:30 tee-off times. He also announced that Jim Hutchins, golf professional at Woodstock Country Club, will be the guest speaker at the awards ceremony.

Prizes, in addition to the $1,000 for a hole-in-one on No. 17, include $50 in merchandise and a trophy for first low gross and first low net. Other equal prizes for low gross and low net in order are: $40, $20, $15 and $10.

Area golfers who have not signed up for the tournament are advised to contact Ken Harder immediately. The tournament is limited to the first 100 entries.

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN: As of this date, June 21st, 1974, I shall no longer be responsible for any debts or liabilities incurred by my estranged wife, Carol Comerford. ROGER COMERFORD, Route 3, Box 377, Kingston, New York 12401

Timbrouck: 6th Homer

Russ Timbrouck crashed his sixth home run and his fifth Indians to nine full innings before falling, 9-8. Gary Foster in relief of Lou Venditti was the winner as the Indians managed to beat a strong effort by the Yankees.

The winners got off to a fast start, leading 6-0 after two innings, but a home run by the Giants' Mark Tiano and a Steve Schlanger smashed a double by John Lieney got the pair of doubles and Bob Letus Giants back in the game. The Pirates responded with four singles to lead the Indians 4-1 in the home third to put back. Thompson had four hits the game out of reach and give for the losers.

Leonard had 14 strikeouts against only one walk before Van Wagen and reliever Jake Thompson came on in relief. Senior combined to limit the Thompson ran the K total up to nine strikeouts. Jeff Halstead 17 without another base on balls, went the route and took the loss.

Stottlemyre On Disabled List

NEW YORK (UPI) — The New York Yankees announced Monday that pitcher Mel Stottlemyre, after having been examined by orthopedic specialist Dr. Robert Kerlan in Los Angeles, will be placed on the 21-day disabled list.

Stottlemyre's injury was diagnosed as a pulled muscle in his right shoulder. He will be unable to throw a ball for two to four weeks. He is 6-7 for the season with a 3.49 ERA. The club did not announce who they will bring up to replace Stottlemyre on the roster.

LEGAL NOTICE

THE PEOPLE OF THE STATE OF NEW YORK, By the Grace of God Free and Independent, TO COMMISSIONER OF SOCIAL SERVICES OF ULSTER COUNTY, 240 Fair Street, Kingston, New York 12401, JAMES E. SCARTH, 1600 N.W. 11 Avenue, Hollywood, Florida 33024

House Fire
Is Under Investigation

Fire of incendiary origin extensively damaged a two-story house on the corner of Main Street and Railroad Avenue in East Kingston early today.

"There was fuel oil all over the floor," said East Kingston Fire Chief Thomas Cole Jr., explaining that the blaze was the result of arson.

Cole said one room of the house owned by Mrs. Florence Acker was totally engulfed in flames when firemen arrived at the scene at about 3 a.m. The blaze had also extended to the second floor, Cole said.

He credited his men with saving the rest of the house. Smoke damage was reported throughout the building. Ulster House firemen were also at the scene.

Cole explained that no one was home when the fire broke out. State Police have been called in to probe the blaze.

In Kingston, meanwhile, city detectives have been called on to investigate the third blaze since April 18 at an abandoned house at 37 Van Buren Street.

Firemen were called to the building shortly before 6 p.m. Monday when they found smoke pouring from the second floor of the structure previously damaged extensively by fires—all of incendiary origin.

This time the fire started in a mattress said fire officials said.

Firemen said the building has been completely gutted by Monday's blaze and fires April 18 and May 1.

The owner of the building has not been determined, firemen said today.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Neither you nor your mate will be very tolerant over domestic issues. The least irregularity could bring about unnecessary discord.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) It doesn't look like you'll be able to dodge certain obligations you've been neglecting lately. Face them today.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Don't spend money on anything today unless you're positive it's the best buy you can make for your dollar.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) A conflict of aims is developing in an important personal relationship. Talk things over before it gets out of hand.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Be careful what you put your signature on at this time. It may obligate you more than you realize.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Your outside interests should be modified a bit for the present or they will prove to be more of a liability than a fun outlet.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) For the next few days, avoid arrogant individuals who like to throw their weight around and give orders.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) You'll suffer considerable embarrassment if you get involved in an argument with another over a subject he knows more about than you do.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Continue to stay on guard and proceed cautiously in a venture you share with another or you'll be taken advantage of.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Co-operation from others you're now hoping for will be slow in coming. Do as much as you can on your own.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Do more than spot-check work or service you're having done at this time in order to avoid the possibility of serious mistakes.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Be extra-patient and considerate toward one you're emotionally involved with. This person is harboring a secret hurt.

June 26, 1974

This year will bring certain changes that you may resist at first, only to learn later they were really for your own good. Don't miss out on them.

Where had South gone wrong? There was a perfect safety play available to him. He should simply have covered West's seven of clubs with dummy's nine spot. This would have cost him a trick if East had started with exactly two clubs. But all the trick would have cost him, would have been a 30-point over-trick. As North pointed out you can afford that loss when insuring a slam.

Suppose clubs had broken 3-1. South would lose a club trick and could not lose two. Suppose East held all four clubs. West would have shown about the bad break. The only way to lose the slam was for West to hold all four and South to misplay the suit.

Jean Adams' TEEN FORUM

VACATION TIME: (Q) I am 13 and very good looking for my age (not vain). I have been going with Mark for about two months, but he is in Florida on a vacation and is not writing to me.

I figure he has forgotten me or is admiring some girl in a bikini.

Another boy wants to go out with me. Should I try him or wait till Mark gets back?—Ginny in Connecticut.

(A) If you made Mark no promises, and if Mark promised you nothing, date the other boy.

If you did, wait till Mark returns and see what the score is.

FIRST SIGHT: (Q) Do you think that if a boy believes a girl likes him it is all right to call her, even if they hardly know each other? Last year I saw a girl that I fell in love with at first sight. Every time I see her she is looking at me and recently she has been saying "Hello" to me.—16 in New York.

(A) If you have met her and know her telephone number call her. If you haven't, introduce yourself the next time you see her, and ask for her phone number. In either case, if she responds in a friendly way, she is interested.

GREETINGS — Secretary of State Kissinger is greeted by Senator Henry Jackson, D-Wash., as Kissinger arrives to appear before a closed session of the Senate Armed Services subcommittee on Arms Control to brief the group on the ongoing SALT talk between the U. S. and Russia. (UPI TELEPHOTO)

Kissinger, Jackson Dispute Continues

WASHINGTON (UPI) — As President Nixon headed for Moscow summit talks to seek more progress on nuclear arms control, a sudden debate flared at home concerning his last major nuclear pact with the Soviets in 1972.

The dispute began Friday, when Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., announced he had received "rather startling" information that the May 26, 1972, U.S.-Soviet agreement limiting offensive missiles had been secretly reinterpreted to give the Russians more missiles and the United States less — without telling Congress.

On Monday, Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger held a 70-minute news conference mostly devoted to Jackson's charges, which Kissinger called "false in every detail."

Jackson had said that a secret agreement allowed the Russians to replace 70 missiles aboard its elderly, diesel-powered G class submarines, which he said would allow them a total of 1,020 submarine-launched missiles instead of the 950 publicly announced on President Nixon's last visit to Moscow in 1972.

Kissinger replied that the 950 ceiling still stands, and was specifically reinforced in a subsequent agreement of interpretation between the two countries.

Furthermore, he said, even if the Russians wanted to claim a "super-legal interpretation" of the original agreement in order to put modern missiles in elderly, vulnerable, short range submarines, it would be "absurd" for them to do so.

Jackson's second point was that the 1972 agreement allowed the United States 710 submarine-launched missiles, but that the Nixon administration secretly told the Soviets it would in fact deploy only 656.

Kissinger replied that this was done after the top U.S. military leaders told him they did not plan to build as many Poseidon submarines as the agreement allowed but would wait for the Trident submarine, still on the drawing boards, to come along until after 1977. The 1972 agreement only runs until 1977, and the Tridents are not covered by it.

Kissinger then went into a three-hour, closed-door session with an armed services subcommittee headed by Jackson. A congressional source said the session was acrimonious, starting with Kissinger's "resenting" having to be sworn in.

According to this source, Kissinger conceded during the meeting there had been a loophole which the Russians might have used to add 70 submarine-launched missiles to their arsenal, and that it was closed by a secret U.S.-Soviet agreement initialed only last Tuesday. While the source did not spell out details, the alleged loophole appeared to be the same potential "super-legal interpretation" mentioned by Kissinger in his news conference.

The dispute was not resolved, but by day's end Jackson seemed to be moderating the implications of his initial statement. He indicated he was not worried about the Russians getting a substantive military advantage out of the matter.

IT PAYS TO ADVERTISE

Judiciary Panel Lists Witnesses

WASHINGTON (AP) — A list of possible witnesses indicates the House Judiciary Committee may be focusing its impeachment inquiry on the March 21, 1973, payment to convicted Watergate conspirator E. Howard Hunt Jr.

At least five of the eight witnesses tentatively agreed to Monday by senior members of both parties would appear to have knowledge of the $75,000 payment, which the Watergate grand jury has charged was part of a plot to keep Hunt quiet.

The witnesses, not all of whom are expected to be called, are former White House aides H.R. Haldeman, Charles W. Colson, John W. Dean III, Alexander P. Butterfield and Frederick C. LaRue; former Asst. Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell; Asst. Atty. Gen. Henry E. Petersen and Herbert W. Kalmbach, Nixon's former personal lawyer.

The committee will vote today or Wednesday on the actual list of witnesses to be called in the final phase of the impeachment inquiry, which will begin next Tuesday. Questioning is to be completed by July 12 so the committee can start deliberating on possible articles of impeachment by July 15.

Disturbance Mars Festive Occasion

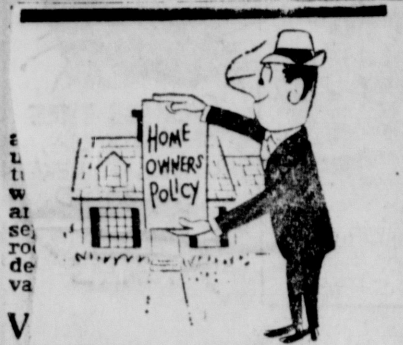

MONTREAL (AP) — The festive mood of St. Jean Baptiste Day celebrations was marred Monday night when police, wielding three-foot-long nightsticks, were called in to disperse a crowd in Old Montreal.

More than 100 policemen wearing riot gear, including helmets with visors, descended on the scene in squad cars and motorcycles, pushing into crowds and herding them out of the historic section in east-end Montreal.

Officers riding in motorcycle sidecars jumped into the crowd, dispersing and directing it from the cobblestone streets where more than 1,000 revelers had lit bonfires and participated in open-air singing and dancing.

A police spokesman said the riot squad was called in after receiving reports from merchants in the area of broken windows and rowdy behavior.

LIFE & CASUALTY

—Petersen told the Senate Judiciary Committee he did not feel bound by Nixon's view that no administration official should be granted immunity from prosecution. Petersen, who was in charge of the first Watergate investigation, said, "I did not feel under any onus from the President on immunity."

—Special prosecutor Leon Jaworski said he will not attempt to prove in the plumbers trial that Ehrlichman attempted to conceal the break-in at the office of Daniel Ellsberg's psychiatrist. Jaworski said the prosecution will focus on whether there was a conspiracy to violate the civil rights of Dr. Lewis Fielding.

—It was revealed that Colson told a private investigator he thinks the CIA may have been deeply involved in the Watergate and Ellsberg break-in cases. But Colson said Monday that his conversation was exploratory and largely conjectural.

—Senate Republican Leader Hugh Scott accused staff members of the Senate Watergate Committee of preparing investigative reports unlikely to be adopted by the committee and then leaking them to the press.

The impeachment panel also plans to decide today whether to make public the documentary evidence received in six weeks of closed hearings.
